EMIGRATION GIVES WAY AS PORTUGAL GROWS

Lisbon, Dec. 26 (AP).—Decided decrease in emigration as well as a growth in population were revealed in the 1929 census of Portugal.

In 1929, out of a population of 5,648,729, more than 75 per cent could neither read nor write. Then thousands of schools were opened. By 1929 the population numbered 5,652,591, of whom 1,235,457 knew at least their letters.

This year the population was totaled as 6,654,135 and more than 79 per cent could read and write.

Events Around The Empire State

(By The Associated Press.)

Albany, N. Y., Dec. 26 (AP).—George W. Churchill, one of the first employees of the New York State Agricultural Experiment Station at Geneva, will retire on January 1 after 45 years of service.

Mr. Churchill joined the staff in 1884, when the station was first authorized by the legislature, and has been in charge of the farm work staff since that time.

Agriculture has taken its place among the industries of New York state, in the opinion of R. J. Buck, president of the Northern New York Trust Company, and should be protected by tariff enactments. He added that industry and business should lend their support to agriculture in efforts to secure such protection.

"There should be no further delay in the enactment of adequate tariffs for agriculture," said Mr. Buck. "Farming can no longer be regarded merely as a means of living. Agriculture is today just as much an industry as the making of shoes, automobiles or any other article. This is especially true of dairymaking. The modern dairy farm is an industrial plant wherein the cow is the machine to which is fed raw material in the form of feeds and from which is secured milk as the finished product."

"Prosperity for agriculture is of the utmost importance to all business and industry. The farmers of America are the greatest potential market available to our industries. Full tariff protection will greatly increase the buying power of the farmers, thus creating larger outlets for the products of shop and factory."

"Here in New York state, dairymaking is one of our major industries, and without question the greatest agricultural industry. It is a regular daily business, a cash shop from which the farmer receives his income every month."

"Agriculture is this nation's fundamental industry. Without prosperity in that industry there can be no permanent prosperity for other business. For purely selfish reasons, if no other, all business and industry should be willing to aid agriculture in its efforts to secure full protection by tariff."

The Western New York Farm Bureau's dairy committee has recommended that dairymen assist in absorbing the seasonal oversupply of dairy products. A meeting of the committee has held recently to discuss the problem of preventing a surplus in milk production in mid-winter. A natural reaction after the large increase that was necessary last summer to avert the danger of a shortage of milk in the metropolitan area.

In its report the committee emphasized the fact that the oversupply was not large nor unusual and pointed out that if each member absorbed a six to ten pound surplus on his farm it would aid materially in stabilizing a falling market for the next few months.

The committee is composed of J. F. Crowley of Ellipticville, chairman; Nelson Smith, Mt. Morris; Alfred J. Williams and James Dorman, Franklinville; and John Morris, Avon.

Nit Wits Unmasked By Artist's Sketchbook

Each Saturday night the radio brings the Nit Wits, a conglomeration of burlesque intended to produce laughs at the receiving end of the CBS coast to coast chain stations. It might be thought that the Press Feature Service, reveals in their true light Bradford Browne as the chief Nit Wit; Yolande Lang-Minnie Blauman as Ezema Succotash; Margaret Young, who also is Mrs. Browne, as Patience Bumpstead; Lucille Black as Mocha de Polka, and Chester Miller as Lord Alkernon Ashcart.

CHINESE WILL NEED 100,000 TEACHERS

Peiping, Dec. 28 (AP).—One hundred thousand school teachers will be needed in Hopei province (formerly Chihli) for the enforcement of the compulsory education laws, says a report of the education department. The report estimates there are 3,000,000 illiterate children in this area.

The total population of the province is calculated to range from 28,000,000 to 32,000,000, Hopei being the third largest province in China.

At present there are but 700,000 children in school, says the report. The committee reckons that approximately 25,000,000 will be required to carry out the educational program.

It is planned to start schools first in the cities and gradually extend the teaching system to the villages. In the beginning the children of the well-to-do and the middle-classes will be considered for the various classes, and as more funds become available the scheme will be carried into the country districts and in the end the children of the poor will be given an education.

The report has been submitted to officials of the provincial government.

Does Sciatica Make You a Cripple?

There are few conditions more painful than the twinges of "Sciatica." This is probably due to the fact that the Sciatic nerve, which is affected, is the largest nerve in the body.

"Sciatica" may be in the form of neuritis, or neuralgia, or a rheumatism of the sciatic nerve. If it is a form that is present without the liver or kidneys being inactive, then it is a neuritis, or neuralgia; while in the rheumatic form, the kidneys and liver and other body organs are affected. A Chiropractic examination will definitely determine which type is present.

Chiropractic has proved (by its gratifying results) that it is the logical health method to use for Sciatica. Chiropractic not only relieves the pain, but it also does that which is necessary for genuine recovery—it removes the conditions causing the Sciatica.

J. L. MacKinnon.

SUFFERED TWENTY YEARS.

"I suffered with Sciatica for 20 years. All the time I was constantly trying one doctor after another, using vibrations, baths, rubbing and drugs; also went to the Springs, but with little or no relief. As a last resort I went to a Chiropractor. A few Chiropractic treatments made me well. That was four years ago, and I have had no Sciatica since."—Z. T. Witt, Chiropractic Research Bureau, Statement No. 2218-C, sworn to before P. S. Heulinger, Notary.

SCIATIC RHEUMATISM

QUICKLY RELIEVED.

"I suffered with sciatic rheumatism so badly I could scarcely walk and was in almost constant pain. I could scarcely get up to the Chiropractor's office, but since taking Chiropractic treatments more than a year I am entirely well and have had no symptoms of a return."—M. P. Goulet, Chiropractic Research Bureau, Statement No. 2147-L.

PHONE 776 FOR APPOINTMENT.

Our success is due to our policy of never accepting cases that we cannot benefit.

In addition to the training received at the world's most prominent Chiropractic university, supplemented by fifteen years' actual practice and observation, we have originated and are using our own system of painless treatment which is a distinct advance over methods commonly in use.

A QUESTION OF HONOR

by Ruth Cross

HIGH on a Sierra mountainside, two men were waging a quiet but relentless struggle when Anne Wilnot arrived there for a visit at Leon Morse's palatial lodge.

Anne was resigned to her destiny—to recoup the dwindling fortune of her family by marrying Morse, railroad builder, financier and wealthiest man of her New York set.

Then the disdainful glance of a young, bronzed giant of the hills stirred the embers of revolt in Anne and plunged the warring forces into a grim battle for two prizes instead of the one they had sought before.

The first was the site of Scott Glenn's irrigation project which blocked Morse's dream of a railroad through the clouds. The other was Anne, and the placid Sierra hills suddenly became the scene of a mighty conflict.

Ruth Cross has woven this background of elemental strife into a thrilling story of romance, adventure and stirring climaxes. It is being published for the first time.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

(By The Associated Press)

New York—The body of Nora Bayes, actress, who died insolvent in 1922, is in a revealing vault at Woodlawn cemetery awaiting burial. Fees for the vault have been paid monthly by Benjamin Friedland, her husband. No explanation has been forthcoming from him. Theatrical friends of the comedienne in London have started raising funds for burial, but permission of the family is necessary.

New York—David Weiss, 17, beset by high school student, was in court for being in the subway in behalf of Gastonia strikers. BERLINERS GO LIGHT ON NEW YEAR'S EVE

Berlin, Dec. 28 (AP).—The New Year's season soon a record amount of carnival toys on the market.

Parasols to the time honored tradition that the old year must be rung out and the new year in, amid unrestrained merriment to insure joy and happiness for the next 365 days.

Manufacturers have inundated the shops with a variety of contrivances for playing practical jokes, or for transforming revelers so inclined into caricatures.

For new year is the one event which even the most sedate Germans insist upon celebrating to the limit—and beyond.

But not even in modern Berlin could the changing times eradicate

MEXICO FREEMAN RICE FROM NATIONAL BERRY

Mexico City, (AP).—After trying for a year to find some means of discouraging the consumption of pulque, the potent "home brew" beverage of this country, the government has found a system as simple as Columbus' method of making an egg stand on end.

The department of health has ordered all pulquerias or native saloons in the federal district, to sell only ice cold pulque.

Refrigeration, it has developed, deprives pulque of its intoxicating powers.

Market for Fruits And Vegetables

New York, Dec. 28 (AP).—(State Department of Agriculture and Markets) Despite the liberal supply of fancy celery from California unloaded on wholesale district today, celery sold well in a steady market. Offerings in the rough, packed in large crates, brought $3.50 @ $6.50. Florida celery in 10 inch crates ranged from $2.25 @ $3.05 and state stock peddled out at $3 to $3.50 per two-thirds crate.
The market continued weak and sluggish on cauliflower. Supplies were moderate and exclusively from California. Crates of nine and fifteen heads sold from $1.25 @ $2.25, mainly $1.50 @ $2. The demand was slow.
California during the previous week started 322 carloads of cauliflower to eastern consuming centers.
Arrivals of Florida lettuce and romaine were moderate. The demand was fair, especially on attractive supplies. The market ruled steady on romaine but was slightly weaker on lettuce. Wholesale business on one and one half bushel hampers of big Boston lettuce was transacted at $2 @ $2.85. Romaine realized $1.75 @ $2.25.
Price changes on upstate apples and pears were few and small. Cabbage and potatoes were tending upward. Carrots and onions remained unchanged.

Grain Measurements

For many years grains were measured in bushel containers, or peck containers. However, in different states the exact size of these containers varied, and they frequently varied within the same state. Consequently, the Department of Agriculture found it necessary to set some standard amount to the grain. In compiling a standard measurement it was found that some grains took up more space than others. This necessitated another form of measurement in order to insure accuracy. The answer to this was a table of weights. Now all states use tables giving the pounds to the bushel of the various grains.

Vague

Eight-year-old Jean was being mentally measured by a professor in the education department of the state university. The college class was observing the method.
"What is the difference between revolution and evolution?" asked the professor.
"Revolution is war," answered Jean promptly. "and evolution has something to do with monkeys. I don't know what."—Los Angeles Times.

Art of Giving

He who gives things only gives little. The real part of any present is the imaginative sympathy through which one has understood and responded to a desire in some other human being and has put something of one's self into the choice of that which will gratify this desire.—Woman's Home Companion.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Dec. 28 (AP).—Extensive year-end readjustment of speculative accounts imparted a decided reactionary trend to prices in today's stock market. The selling centered largely in the merchandising, banking and public utility issues, many of which were hammered down one to 5 points. Although several blocks of 5,000 to 10,000 shares changed hands, trading was relatively light.

In the absence of any new adverse business developments, Wall Street was inclined to blame belated selling as the reason for the slump in prices. Reports also were current that banks were forcing the liquidation of loans, collateral or which had been weakened, but this selling apparently was of an isolated character.

Inasmuch as Friday's call money rate carries over the week-end, credit conditions were not a direct factor in today's market. Brokers do not believe that the call rate will go much above the 6 per cent level as a result of the heavy year-end demands for currency despite the fact that the supply at that rate was rather limited last week.

Ward Baking preferred suffered the largest individual loss in today's market, dropping 8 points. Allied Chemical fell 7 1/2 and R. H. Macy Sears Roebuck slipped 4 1/2 to $4, which compares with the low of $9 established in the break last month.

Declines of 3 to 4 points also were registered by Columbian Carbon, National Biscuit (old stock), May Department Stores, Safeway Stores, Magna Copper and J. I. Case.

United States Steel common sold down 2 points before it met effective support.

The closing was heavy. Sales approximated 1,350,000 shares.

Orchard Information

FERTILIZERS ARE HELD TO ORCHARDS

Devitalized Trees Respond Quickly to Chemicals.

Does it pay to apply chemical fertilizer to orchards? If so what kind should be used and when should it be applied? Experiments planned to answer these questions have given some interesting results. The application of fertilizer to trees at the experimental station, Sumnerland, B. C., has not materially influenced the yield of fruit produced. On the other hand, in experiments conducted by Mr. Ben Hoy in several Kelowna orchards, the use of chemicals has produced remarkably beneficial effects.

The explanation of this apparent contradiction lies in the fact that the nutritional conditions existing within a tree largely determine its response to fertilizer treatments, writes R. C. Palmer in the Farm and Home. The trees in the experimental station orchards were in a very vigorous condition, whereas those which showed the greatest benefit in Mr. Hoy's experiments were more or less run down when the fertilizer was applied. In orchards where the trees are making strong growth and clothing themselves in luxuriant foliage it is neither economical nor advisable to apply much fertilizer. Devitalized orchards, however, often respond wonderfully to the application of chemicals, especially when their use is accompanied by improved cultural methods and uniform distribution of irrigation water.

The nitrogen deficiency may be rectified by the use of legume cover crops, organic manures or chemicals such as ammonium sulphate, sodium nitrate and calcium nitrate. Legumes are undoubtedly the cheapest source of nitrogen. Barnyard manure never fails to give satisfaction where it can be secured at reasonable cost. Nitrates give the quickest results and, where the need is urgent, may well be applied at the rate of from five to twelve pounds around each tree according to its age and condition. The fertilizer should be spread thinly over the surface of the soil occupied by the tree roots.

Excessive Pruning Bad for Young Fruit Trees

While the greatest need with regard to orchard pruning is probably encouragement of the practice, at the same time there are those who are so enthusiastic about pruning in their orchards that some caution should be exercised by any such enthusiasts.

There should be a good reason for every cut made on the young trees. It is particularly important that the annual pruning of the young trees just coming into bearing be moderate and certainly no more wood should be removed than is absolutely essential to proper shape and form of the tree.

It has been shown that practically all varieties of apples and many varieties in particular, may be expected to fruit earlier when unpruned than when moderately or severely pruned. Also, it has been found that unpruned trees have made more growth. Yet some pruning during the first few years of the orchard's life must be done.

Control Leaf Curl by Spraying in Winter

Peach leaf curl starts in the early spring from spores carried over on the buds and twigs. These spores germinate, and the fungus begins to grow about the time the buds begin to swell. The fungus growth upon gains entrance to the buds and leaves, and after that time it is impossible to control the disease for the season by spraying.

Mounding in Fall

After cleaning away dead grass and much material from the base of the tree trunks in the fall before freezing starts, the soil may be mounded about them to a height of four to six inches. While mounding is not absolute proof against injury, it usually reduces the amount. This will be especially true during winters of light snow fall when the mounded soil extends above the snow. The mounded soil should always be leveled as early in the spring as possible.

Job's Tribulations

During a Scripture lesson a little girl was asked to describe the sufferings of Job. "Job had one trouble after another," she replied. "First he lost his cattle; then he lost all his children; and then he had to go and live alone in the desert with his wife."

Africa's Sausage Tree

One of Oddest Known
A tree which bears fruit apparently only to decay in the so-called "sausage tree" of East Africa, a queer tree if a queer one is to be found.

As the sausage tree is approached while bearing fruit often reaches a length of two feet, with a most inviting look but a most disappointing result upon inspection.

The exterior seems to be edible upon a glance, but the interior is hard and woody pulp, neither tempting to the palate nor edible.

The tree, which is a member of the catapala family, has a use, however, and enters into both the religious and medical life of the natives of the country where it is found. The negro tribes of Nubia consider the tree sacred and hold religious festivals in the moonlight beneath its branches. Poles made from the trees are erected before the houses of the chiefs and are worshipped by other members of the tribe.

The natives cut and roast the sausage and place the cut sides against parts of their bodies afflicted with rheumatism and similar complaints.—Washington Star.

Why Faced Toward Engine

The practice of making up Pullman berths with the head toward the engine is based on two principles: First, it drives the air currents toward the feet and this keeps the head and uncovered parts of the body out of drafts. Second, the motion of the train is supposed to have some effect upon the circulation of the blood, and by moving head foremost the blood is sent away from the head and toward the feet, which aids sleeping.—New York Telegram.

The Costume Blouse a Winter Essential.

New York—The costume blouse has fascinated itself with all women but more especially those who are at their best in costumes of the two-piece type. No one dreams of denying that the possibilities of the suit for spring are unlimited. This of course establishes the blouse as a necessary adjunct.

Sports costumes incline toward lockings. For town wear women show a marked preference for over-blouses. These are, however, rather more than hip length and are snugly fitted at that point. Naturally printed cottons striped and floral in motif are liked for sports, while the costume blouse may be of any number of materials, headed, however, by satin. While one finds many tailored satin blouses, one finds also models with labrets, scarf collars and tricky sleeve, some of which go to the length of elbow puffed. The sleeveless blouse, still in the running, is to be revived as we are told by short sleeved models. One finds the sleeveless blouse worn with the new cape ensembles.

An Overblouse of Aquamarine Satin is Closed Down the Front with Self Covered Buttons. Tucks Spaced Rather Far Apart Give a Fitted Effect and Draw the Blouse Up So that It is Slightly Shorter in Front than in the Back. A Belt Across the Back Indicates the Waistline Placed at Normal.

A Type of Figured Overblouse Trimmed with Both Buttons and Bows.

Bows and buttons both appear in blouses designed for southern wear. Glass buttons are the usual choice, and self bows the usual arrangement. Of course vertical-tucking, shirring and such treatments as mold the figure are resorted to, since the costume silhouette is naturally followed. Confidence in dimity, batiste, handkerchief linen and organdie blouses is expressed among those whose attention is focused on advance fashions. These are usually made with pleated or gathered frills or jabots and are often sleeveless.

MELLOW TONES MAKE FOR FEMINITY IN THE SOUTH-ERN WARDROBE

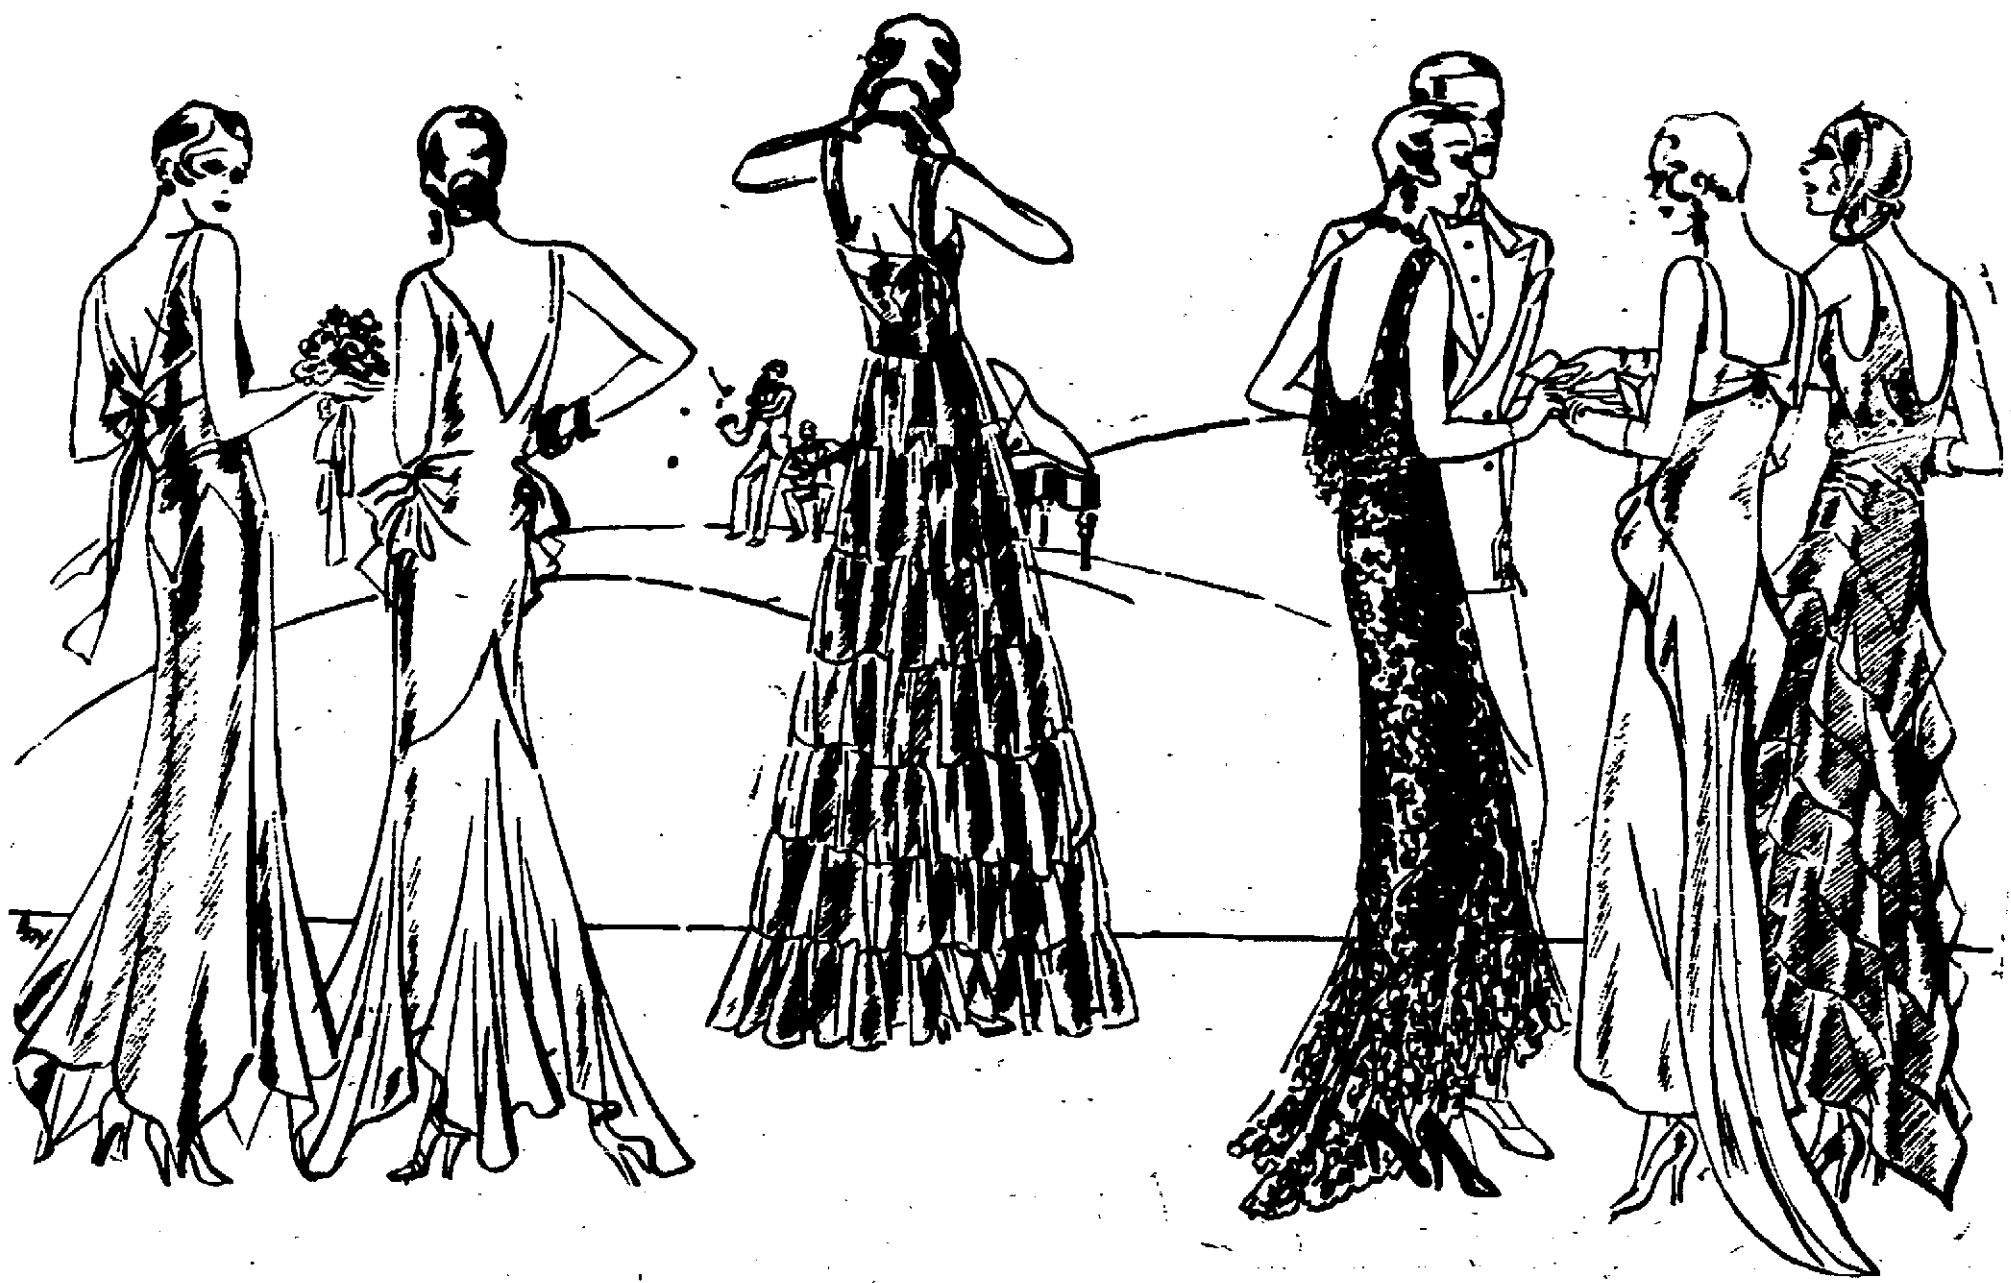

New York—With a mind divided between the feverish activities of the season, and the lure of southern wardrobes, one feels impelled to hesitate between the two interests sufficiently long to consider winter sports and their bearing on the mode.

Since the first requisite of good dressing is that one should be appropriately clad, and since one is expected to be so versatile in the matter of recreations and occupation, there are staggering demands put upon the exchequer. Winter sports togs are among the luxuries of life and therefore are necessary—and costly. Southern wardrobes are luxuries, too, and are just as necessary and quite as costly.

While the only admitted favorite for snow wear, has given way to dark color including navy and black, while southern wardrobes vary from soft pastel to vibrant hues according

Sophisticated Treatment of Long Lines Revealed in Gowns to Be Worn by Younger Set at Yuletide Festivities

A dusky pink satin was favored for a gown adopting a high-placed belt, topped. At center, a taffeta frock in lively shade of green blue endorses the even neckline reaching almost to the floor. A very short bodice with camisole top favors an irregular flounce worked up to a point at both front and back, coupled with a skirt made up of pire style with its bolero band gathered up by an ornament of brilliants, its long lines unbroken save for the peplum-like flounce that extends into twin trains at back. White kid gloves are favored. At the extreme right, further endorsement of white gloves is revealed. Satin in turquoise blue is preferred for the bedecked frock shirred up slightly at the waistline. A piquant hat of matching tulle with very narrow piping of satin completes the costume.

to the occasion, morning clothes which are inclined to sports lines usually being paler than the more formal things worn after luncheon.

Added to a very large assortment of prints, in which Directoire period designs are highlighted, are striped chiffons, a rather new and decidedly interesting note involving many colors. Tones more mellow than usual seem to strike the new southern color note—soft off-shades of almost everything, but particularly green, are endorsed at the better houses.

Although the feminine is again emphasized in the new collections, they, as a whole, demonstrate the compatibility of the two types in modern fashion—the softly alluring or feminine type for evening, and the boyish note for sports.

These characteristics are expressed in many ways and are further emphasized by the choice of color and fabric. One feels confidence in the verge of cotton for resort wear, for cottons have been glorified by various printing processes—printed ones being of course, the favorites.

That society will continue to bare its back to the sun is another surety—and just what it will do about arms and legs makes interesting speculation. There are repeated rumors, backed up by concrete evidence, that sleeves will make themselves felt. They will be omitted in certain resort frocks, and will be curtailed in others. One feels a loss of confidence in the long straight sleeves—they are far more likely to be cut off at, or above the elbow, or falling that be elaborated below that point.

That short capes are being taken seriously for resort wear is evident. Not only are coats complicated by capes of several kinds, but they are relegated to the background in favor of them in others. They are consistent with prevailing style tendencies.

TURKISH POLICE ACT AS BAY NURSE MAIDS

Istanbul, Turkey. (A)—Turkey's alphabet schools for adults are turning police stations into day-nurseries. It started like this:

A policeman knocked at a little house in a poor quarter of Istanbul. A woman opened the door.

"How old are you?" the policeman asked abruptly.

"Thirty-five," the woman replied. "Then put on your hat and come to school."

The woman objected that she had five small children whom she could not leave alone. The policeman was obdurate, the law definite: the woman would be subjected to a heavy fine and even to imprisonment if she did not go to school and learn her ABC's.

Later she appeared at the nearest police station with five urchins in tow.

"You policemen make me leave home and go to school," she said. "and so may Allah strike me blind if you don't look after these children until I get back."

This woman's move gave a cue to hundreds of other school-going mothers and the bewildered policemen could find no way to extricate themselves from their nursemaid roles.

If Shoe Hurts

When a shoe pinches it is very distressing to wear. A simple remedy will bring speedy relief. Take a piece of cloth, wring it out in boiling water and place it on the part of the shoe causing discomfort. The steam makes the leather expand, and in nine cases out of ten permanent relief is the result.

President Hoover said: "To build the spirit of good will and friendliness, to create respect and confidence, to stimulate esteem between peoples—this is the far greatest guarantee of peace." We highly value and appreciate the good will of our customers.

New Telephone Rates Effective After January 1

A final decree was filed today in the United States District Court for the Southern District of New York in the case of the New York Telephone Company. The decree carries into effect the decision of the court announced on November 11, 1929. The decree sets the value for the making purposes of the property used by the company in the operation of the service for which the Public Service Commission ordered the rates complained against by the company; such values as found by the court to have been $49,000,000 as of July 1, 1926 and $47,500,000 as of July 1, 1928. The court states that 7 per cent is a fair return to be earned by the company on the value of its property. Having found that the present rates have fallen short of earning such returns, the court declares them confiscatory and invalid and enjoins their future enforcement. The decree further permits the company to increase its rates to such an extent as may be necessary to earn the returns specified by the court.

In connection with the filing of this decree, J. S. McCulloh, president of the company, made the following statement: "We are now engaged in the preparation of new rates in accordance with the court's decree to take the place of those which have been enjoyed. These rates will cover various types and classes of service and facilities in some 340 points and places within the state of New York, and the work of their revision is a complicated and difficult undertaking. This work, however, is under way and will be proceeded with as rapidly as possible. Time does not permit the complete revision of the rate schedules and the performance of the most detail labor involved in changing the basis of charges, and the billing of more than 1,500,000 subscribers in the state prior to the new year. The new rates will therefore have to go into effect on a day subsequent to January 1st. Further announcement will be made by the company concerning the new rates as soon as the schedules have been fully prepared. No statement can be made at this time giving the details of the rates in any particular locality and such information must await further work on the schedule. In accordance with the definite policy of the company which has been heretofore announced, it seeks to make only such adjustments in its rates as will permit it to furnish the best possible service at the lowest cost consistent with financial safety and enable it to continue to meet adequately the telephone demands of the state."

EPISCOPAL BISHOP OF IOWA FATALLY INJURED.

Davenport, Ia., Dec. 28 (AP).—The Right Rev. Theodore Nevins Morrison, Episcopal Bishop of Iowa, was fatally injured early last night when struck by an automobile driven by Miss Margaret Volz of Davenport, who was freed on bond pending investigation. She told police she saw no one in the path of her car until after the accident.

Bishop Morrison headed the Episcopal Church in Iowa for 30 years. His death raises the Rev. Harry Sherman Longley of Des Moines to the bishopric of Iowa. Bishop Longley was previously coadjutor bishop.

Grasshopper's Short Life

In the tropics the natural span of life of grasshoppers and other insects may be somewhat lengthened by the fact that death is not hastened by the coming of cold and freezing weather as it is in temperate or frigid regions and also because the period of metamorphosis extends over an average longer period of time. But as a rule the life of single brooded insects is not over a year in any climate.

There are at least 40 cases of chickenpox in the city at the present time, according to Dr. L. E. Sanford, city health officer. He stated today that the children who have had the disease will need certificates before they can return to school when it opens January 6. These certificates may be obtained at the board of health office at the city hall between the hours of 9 and 10 o'clock in the morning and 1 and 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

ASYLUM PATIENT MAKES ROPE AND HANGS SELF

Max Lerner, former summer guest at Kanfer's Beerhill Country Club at Greenfield, near Ellenville, recently hung himself at Matteawan State Hospital at Beacon, with an improvised rope made from strips of clothing. He had been at the hospital approximately eight months. Lerner was sent to the hospital for the criminally insane after an attempt to kill his wife. He shot her twice in the face, then turned the gun on himself but the safety prevented the gun from going off. The attempt to take his own life was the second he had made within a period of a year and a half. His first unsuccessful attempt was a leap from the sixth story of the New York county court house after his wife procured a separation and the custody of their son. It was after Lerner tried to kill his wife that he was sent to Matteawan. He was found guilty after Peter Abramowitz, a resident in the vicinity of Ellenville, who had been blamed by Lerner, proved an alibi.
